NO AGGRESSION IN GRANT'S HEART

President Harding Says War President Believed in Nation Equipped For Defense

SPEAKS AT CENTENARY TODAY

Immense Crowd at Little Ohio River Town Pays Homage to Greatest Civil War General

(By United Press)

Point Pleasant, O., April 27.—President Harding, speaking at the Grant centenary celebration here today, declared that though Grant "proclaimed the doctrine of moral disarmament at Appomattox, he believed in a nation equipped for righteous defense."

"But no aggression was in his breast," the president added.

In the little village on the banks of the Ohio river about 26 miles from Cincinnati, the president this afternoon paid homage to the memory of America's greatest civil war general.

His speech was broadcasted all over the surrounding country by radiophone. A transmitter was placed on the stand in front of the little village store where Harding spoke.

Although the itinerary of the president's trip was kept strictly secret, crowds gathered at stations along the way last night and this morning. Several times Harding appeared on the rear platform and chatted informally with the crowds.

Up the river from Cincinnati came a flotilla of river craft, bearing the President, the wife of the President, congressmen, high national officers, uniformed military officers, soldiers, state officials, men prominent in civil life and hundreds of other citizens. It moored at the landing and for the first time, though the little village gave to the nation a president, it was honored with the presence of the president of the United States.

Point Pleasant was expecting the distinguished guests and, though its citizens were few in number, as in the days when the man whose memory was to be honored trudged barefoot through the dusty streets, it extended open arms.

In the presidential party were Attorney-General Daugherty; George B. Christian, Jr., secretary to the President, and Mrs. Christian; Brigade General Charles E. Sawyer, the President's physician, and Mrs. Sawyer; Mrs. Frederick Dent Grant, Mrs. Harry C. Corbin, E. B. McLean and Mrs. McLean, James Prendergast, Jess Smith, Dr. T. Harding, the President's father and

CASES IN SQUIRE'S COURT ARE SETTLED

Judgment For Possession and $27 For J. T. Arbuckle Against Harry Dawson Returned

FRED HILLIGOSS IS FINED

Several matters have been adjusted in Justice Steele's court, and today the case of J. T. Arbuckle against Harry Dawson, a suit for possession of a house and damages, was settled by agreement and judgment for possession and $27 was made in the case.

Another civil action filed by the Robert G. Ingersoll Company against Alva Poer, a suit on an account, has been dismissed at the plaintiff's costs. The suit filed by Delilah Rutherford against Henry Poe, a suit for possession, was dismissed in this court and refiled in the circuit court. The defendant had filed a motion for a change of venue from the township, and the plaintiff then withdrew the complaint in order to prevent the action being taken outside of the local court.

Fred Hilligoss, who was arraigned on three charges, was fined $1 and costs for intoxication, and the case of carrying concealed weapons was dismissed. A further charge of surety of peace, has been continued indefinitely. The charges were brought by Donal Laughlin, of near Milroy, who also was charged with issuing a fraudulent check, but this action was dismissed when the check was made good, it was said.

TO SUPPORT LLOYD GEORGE--RATHENAU

Member of German Delegation to Genoa Says Germany Will Back Non-Egression Pact

TALKS TO NEWSPAPERMAN

Asserts British Premier's Speech to Press Most Brilliant Effort of the Statesman

(By United Press)

Genoa, April 27.—"Germany will support loyally Lloyd George's plan for a pact of non-egression," Walter Rathenau of the German delegation declared in an address to the press this afternoon.

Rathenau followed the example of Lloyd George in summoning all the correspondents at Genoa to hear his statement of the German position.

"The proposed pact will constitute one of the greatest acts ever taken on behalf of humanity," he declared. "It will make the Genoa conference the greatest in the history of the world."

"Lloyd George's speech last night to the American and British newspapermen," Rathenau asserted, "was the most brilliant effort of the entire career of the far-sighted statesman, who holds in his hands the world's greatest responsibility."

"The declaration of Premier Lloyd George that this conference for which we are met, might establish justice, fairness and equity, touched me to the heart," Rathenau said.

"As I understand it, the speech opened a new channel of the Genoa conference, namely the introduction of a non-egression pact. If this pact expresses the ideas contained in Lloyd George's speech, we Germans will take both loyally."

Mrs. Snyder was killed in Shanghai when a bullet of an assassin intended for Baron Tanaka of Japan struck her as she advanced down the gang plank of the vessel.

KIWANIS GUESTS GIVE THE PROGRAM

Wives and Women Friends of Club Members in Role of Entertainers at Monthly Meeting

SPECIAL SONGS BIG "HITS"

S. L. Trabue and W. A. Young Delegates to International Convention—Jess Pugh Honorary Member

At the regular monthly meeting of the Kiwanis club at the K. of P. hall Wednesday evening, the program was turned over to the wives and women friends of the members—and they turned the trick in a very entertaining fashion, judging from the comments which were heard today from Kiwanians.

Mrs. Kennard Allen was in charge of the program and she and a corps of able assistants prepared some stunts which met with the hearty approval of the members of the club.

The women who participated in the stunts were Mrs. William A. Young, Mrs. Earl Osborne, Mrs. Curt Hester, Mrs. M. V. Brown, Mrs. Will Trennepohl, Mrs. Fred Arbuckle, Mrs. Derby Green, Mrs. Cullen Sexton, Mrs. George Helm and Mrs. Allyn.

They sang some Kiwanis songs and also some selections especially prepared for the occasion, which were "hits" on the club and some of its members. Mrs. Hester was especially good in her imitation of a violin and of a negro girl discussing a dance with a friend over the telephone. Readings by Mrs. Osborn were also appreciated. Miss Maxine Brown was at the piano during the program, and for the banquet which was served by the Pythian Sisters, the Floethlyn orchestra of Greensburg provided the music.

Kiwanians selected their guests for the banquet by their feet. The women were behind a screen with only their feet exposed, and in this manner the banqueters were paired off. The Kiwanis club has a custom of entertaining their wives once each month at a night meeting.

At the business session of the club, Jess Pugh was elected an honorary member and Samuel L. Trabue, president, and William A. Young, secretary, were elected delegates to the annual international convention of Kiwanis clubs which will be held at Toronto, Canada in June. Dr. Frank H. Green and R. C. Hargrove were named as alternates.

HALF DOZEN LAW SUITS ARE FILED

Two Damage Suits For Combined Sum of $1,000 Against W. Manley Pearce in Circuit Court

AUTO ACCIDENT IS BASIS

Margaret F. Dudgeon of Glenwood Seeks Divorce From Jasper Dudgeon and $1,000 Alimony

A half dozen law suits have been filed in the circuit court including two damage suits, two account suits, divorce and a complaint for possession of property. The court is in vacation this week, and in all probability the suits placed on file today will be scheduled for trial during the next term which opens on Monday.

W. Manley Pearce of this city is defendant in two complaints for damages, as the result of an automobile collision on September 25, 1921, when his machine and a machine driven by Carl J. Reifeis, ran together on a bridge two miles east of New Palestine.

The first suit was filed by the above named party, with the Union Insurance Company as one of the plaintiffs and with Mr. Pearce and the Hoosier Casualty Company as defendants. It is charged that on the above date, the machine driven by Reifeis was going west and the Pearce machine was going east, and that the latter was driven reckless onto the bridge at the same time, and a collision took place, damaging the Reifeis machine, which was insured in the Union Insurance Company, and which paid a claim for damages.

The plaintiff avers that he is seeking to collect for the insurance company as well as for damage which he sustained for not having the use of the machine for 30 days, and he places his demand for $500.

In the second suit, Joseph Koman is plaintiff and Mr. Pearce and the Hoosier Casualty Insurance Co. are defendants. It is charged in this complaint that Koman was riding in the machine with Reifeis at the time of the accident and was injured, and sets out in the complaint that he was "severely injured in and about the body, back and hips, and as a result received two broken ribs, a badly sprained hip and back, and the thumb of his right hand was thrown out of joint and severely sprained and bruised."

The plaintiff in this action seeks damages for his doctor bill, the retention from his work and for the mental anguish caused by the accident, and places his demand at $500.

Margaret F. Dudgeon is plaintiff in a suit for divorce filed against Jasper Dudgeon, in which she charges him with ill treatment, abuse, failure to provide and that he spent $5,000 of her money on fast living and other women. She demands $1,000 alimony and support and because of his threats, she filed a petition to restrain and enjoin him from entering the premises, or communicating with her. They are residents of Glenwood, according to the complaint, and she charges him with unfaithfulness, by association with other women. He also is charged with abusing her children by a former marriage, and she seeks to have her former name of Margaret Vandiver

BEVERIDGE ARRIVES FOR LOCAL ADDRESS

Candidate For United States Senator Late in Reaching Rushville From Columbus

SPEAK AT THE COURT HOUSE

Albert J. Beveridge, republican candidate for United States senator, arrived here this afternoon from Columbus, Ind., and was scheduled to speak at a meeting in the court room at the court house about three o'clock.

Mr. Beveridge was accompanied here by Judge Arthur Robinson of Indianapolis and several other workers. The meeting this afternoon was originally set for the coliseum at the city park, but on account of the cold weather, it was decided to change the location to the court house.

Mr. Beveridge and his party was traveling in an automobile and made several stops between Columbus and here this morning, which made them late in arriving this afternoon. Following the address here, the party will go to Newcastle, stopping off for a short time in Knightstown.

The crowd was gathering this afternoon for the meeting, and it was expected that the court room would be packed even though the weather did not permit many farmers to attend.

Early Social Life in Rush County

In Those Days, There Were Ten to Twelve Lusty Sprouts From the Family Tree, and at Neighborhood Gatherings, Such as Log-Rollings, Quiltings, and in Schools and Meetings, People Mingled Socially, Simple-Hearted and Unaframed of Each Other.

The following article is the third of a series regarding the early history of Rush County, which will be published in the Daily Republican between now and the Rush county centennial celebration in June. They will deal with various stages of the early development of the county and were written at the request and suggestion of the publicity committee for the centennial.—Editor's Note.

By The REV. T. B. GARY

My first acquaintance with the people of Rush county began in the year 1858 when I succeeded in forming an alliance with Miss Phebe J. Ball, the daughter of Johnathan and Asenath Ball. I was a roving itinerant circuit rider and I had to meet the sturdy head of the family who flung at me the trite saying, "A Rolling Stone Gathers no Moss." With the wise proverb, a "Setting Hen Never Gets Fat," my brother-in-law met the farmer and I do not know at that exciting time, whether I should have succeeded in my suit or not, had not this brother-in-law come to help me out.

He had made the first break in family had emigrated from western Pennsylvania in 1836 and in the long trip were four weeks on the road. Instead of coming with a moving van they came in a big wagon drawn by a sturdy yoke of oxen.

But that prince of far-sighted men never unyoked those oxen till he lit upon Rush county, one of the richest agricultural counties of the state. And here they raised a family of ten sons and daughters, all of whom have passed the Great Divide save the youngest daughter, the relation of the last Reverend Robert Roberts.

The streams, Flatrock, Blue River and White Water were all without bridges and the going abroad was with much difficulty.

In the homes the flax and wool were spun and woven into garments for old and young.

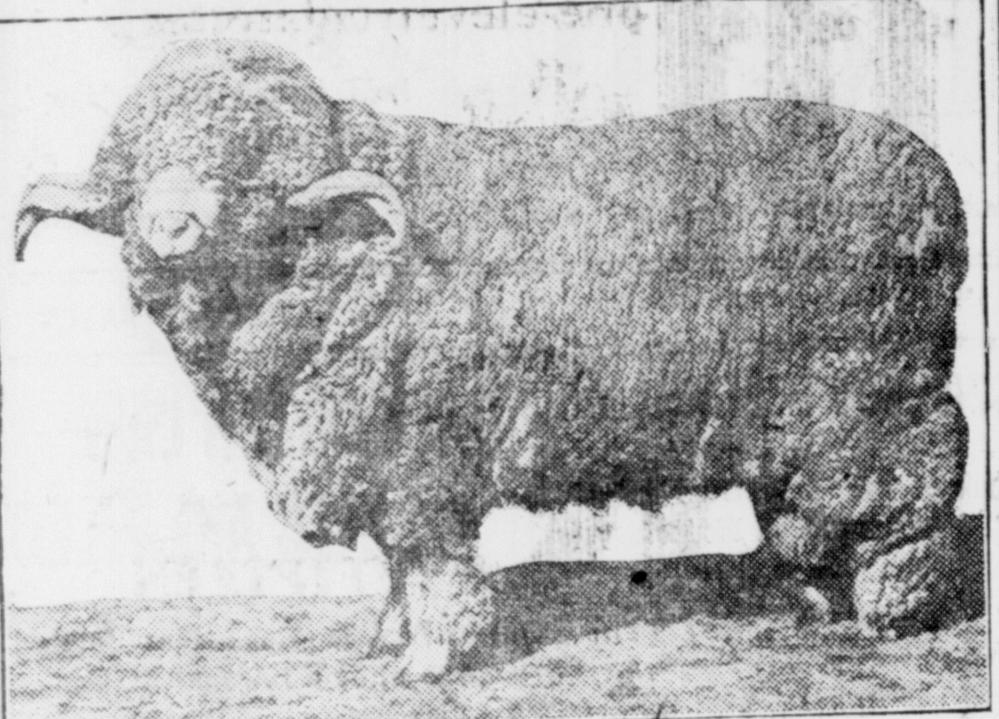

But a large crop of children was grown in the cabin home. Only three of the Balls, Holts, Leisures and Downeys and many others with patriarchal families some beyond that of Jacob in Bible times. Many such ranged from ten to twelve and fourteen lusty sprouts from the family tree.

And the gatherings, such as log-rollings, quiltings and in schools and meetings how they mingled in

CITY LINEMAN RECOVERING

MAINTAIN FLOCK OF SHEEP IN ADDITION TO OTHER LIVE STOCK

A Grand Championship Prize Winning Rambouillet Ram.
Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.

Recognizing the adaptability of sheep to a wide range of territory, extension workers of the United States Department of Agriculture and the state agricultural colleges have steadily encouraged the maintenance of a flock of sheep in addition to other live stock on the farm in sections where farm flocks can be profitably handled. The introduction of purebred stock and the establishing of breeding flocks has been an important feature of extension work in Connecticut and Pennsylvania in the East, and in Utah, Washington state, and New Mexico in the West.

Ram Club Comprises Three Flocks.

In Pennsylvania purebred ram clubs have been organized and are operating successfully. These clubs consist of three units of farm flocks each. A ram is purchased for each unit. He is used in each unit two years and then transferred from one unit to another until he has been used in all three units of the club. The county agent in McKean county aided in organizing three ram clubs during 1920, providing nine good rams of Shropshire breeding for the flocks of members of these clubs. All of these rams are grandsons of Minton's 51, one of the greatest show rams at the International in the past few years. Rape pasture is being used to fatten lambs. These clubs will also procure purebred Shropshire ewes, so that each member will eventually have a purebred flock.

Through the assistance given by the sheep specialist at the state agricultural college nine ram clubs were organized in Pennsylvania during 1920; $3,000 worth of purebred sheep were selected and purchased by farmers in the state in this connection. Supplementing the organization of these associations and the introduction of new stock, 35 shearing, docking, and dipping demonstrations were held, attended by over 700 people.

Utah has made notable progress in making the farm flock a factor of importance in its livestock production. In Iron county, where practically all the rams are now purebred, the sheep breeders have concentrated on the Rambouillet and grow enough stock of this breed to supply largely the demand in southern Utah for purebred animals. An outgrowth of this work is the Rambouillet sheep show, which is annually the big feature of boys and girls who could not afford to start flocks by purchasing sheep. Those who could get milk or dried milk were given the lambs, and 19 boys and girls, altogether, took charge of 158 lambs. Only nine of these were lost during the entire season. Cows' milk was found to be the most satisfactory food, but dried milk was very convenient for use on grazing fields. One boy kept 15 lambs at his home, all of which did well. The same problem was met in a different fashion at Padillas, Bernalillo County, N. Mex., where five club members secured from two to five orphan lambs each and raised them with a goat for a mother.

The outlook for an increase in the number of farm flocks generally throughout the United States is promising. Adult farmers and farm boys and girls are finding the breeding of purebred sheep a profitable line of production, fitting in well with farm activities already established. Extension workers generally should feel encouraged in advocating the adding of flocks of sheep to live stock on farms where conditions are reasonably favorable to wool and mutton production.

SQUASHES IN HOME GARDENS

Small-Growing Plants Are Best Suited for Average Garden—Use While Young and Tender.

Two distinct types of squashes are commonly grown in home gardens—the summer squashes, the fruits of which are used while they are young and tender, and the fall and winter squashes, which are ripened and used during the winter months. The small-growing summer squashes are best adapted to planting in the average garden. The larger, or standard, varieties are better adapted to field culture, although one or two hills might be planted in a corner or along one side of the garden. The hills in which summer squashes are grown should be fully four feet apart and a little manure and fertilizer should be worked into each hill as it is being made.

PLAN TO RAISE ARTICHOKE

Seed May Be Planted in Spring as Soon as Soil Is Warm—Use Well-Rotted Manure.

Deep, rich sandy loam, with a liberal supply of well rotted manure, is best suited for growing globe artichokes. Plant the seeds as soon as the soil is warm in the spring, and when the plants have formed three or four leaves they may be transplanted to rows three feet apart and two feet apart in the row. The plants do not produce until the second season, and in cold localities some form of covering will be necessary during the winter. This crop is not suited for cultivation north of the line of zero temperature.—U. S. Department of Agriculture.

the county fair in Iron county and at which the competition among sheep breeders is exceedingly keen. The county agent in this county co-operates actively with breeders in selecting and improving the management of the breeding stock.

Market Wool in State Pool.

In a number of states county agents have urged successfully an increase in the number of farm flocks kept, Johnson County, Neb., where the number of farmers keeping sheep was more than doubled in 1920, is a notable example.

Although the condition of the wool market was discouraging, one group of 16 farmers in this county shipped a total of 5,000 pounds of wool to the state wool pool. In Jasper County, Mo., a sheep breeders' association was organized through the activity of the county agent to encourage sheep growing, to pool the wool crop, and to fight the wolf menace. This organization took steps to encourage the introduction of purebred stock, and held a cooperative ram sale, at which all the grade rams owned by members of the association were sold and replaced by purebreds.

Boys' and girls' club members have been encouraged to form sheep clubs and grow sheep, with marked success. Local banks have helped to finance

HIGHWAYS ARE FLEECE LINED

Because Cotton Is So Cheap, Ranch men of California and Arizona Use It on Roads.

Fleece-lined roads for getting motorists over desert sands have recently made their appearance and have surprised a great many motor tourists, traveling through certain sections of California and Arizona, says the Illustrated World. There is such a low market value upon cotton in certain sections that it scarcely pays to haul it to the railroad stations. Much that is raised, therefore, goes into the making of roads.

Ranchmen of the Salt River valley of Arizona are doing with cotton just what farmers in other sandy sections do with straw or brush. Cotton is simply thrown down upon the road over stretches where the sand is annoying. Traffic over the road then packs the cotton down into the sand until it forms a firm, smooth and resilient surface, over which motor vehicles may progress with almost as much ease as over a paved street in a city.

As a sponge absorbs water, so does "Gets-It" absorb and draw out any tender corn, big or little, all pain and soreness. It never fails. "Gets-It" is the original corn and callus peeler. Be sure to ask for it by name and remember its substitutes. Money back if not satisfied, costs but a trifling everywhere. E. Lawrence & Co., Mfr., Chicago.

North and South Unite

Washington, D. C., April 27.—North and South united here today in paying honor to General Ulysses S. Grant, with the unveiling of the memorial to the general and ex-president.

Veterans of the Federal and Confederate forces stood side by side and paid a soldier's homage to the great military leader. The Secretary of War, the Secretary of the Navy, the Vice-President, the commanders of the Grand Army of the Republic and the United Confederate veterans, representatives of West Point and Annapolis joined with the veterans.

A brilliant parade from the White House down Pennsylvania Avenue to the site of the memorial, participated in by various military organizations, preceded the unveiling of the memorial.

Sixteen years ago there were only 100 hospitals and sanatoriums for the treatment of tuberculosis. Most of these institutions were improperly or meagerly equipped. Today there are over 600 special tuberculosis hospitals and sanatoria and more than 500 clinics and dispensaries, all well equipped to handle the work necessary to be done.

Sixteen years ago the limited funds for the fight against tuberculosis came from a very few contributors but today the work of the National Tuberculosis Association and the 1,000 state and local organizations with which it is affiliated, is financed chiefly by the sale of Tuberculosis Christmas seals annually which enables the public to have a part in a movement calculated solely to promote their health and general welfare.

Sixteen years ago the death rate from tuberculosis in the United States was 200 per 100,000 population. The death rate in 1918, the last available official figure, had fallen to 149 to each 100,000 population.

The work that has been accomplished the last few years is indeed cause for congratulation and affords great encouragement for the future.

However, much remains to be done along this line. Tuberculosis is clearly a preventable disease and the lives of the 150,000 people who die from it annually are absolutely wasted.

Refrigerators are not bought these days as they used to be, when all we wanted to know was whether an "ice box" was "big" enough to hold all the things we wished to chuck into it.

Today we are modern. We want to know if a refrigerator is or is NOT an "ice-eater;" We want to know if our foods will keep COLD, sweet and wholesome; we want to know that we are protecting the HEALTH of the entire family; we want to know that we are getting not only the most scientifically-built but the BEST-built, and the MOST-ECONOMICAL refrigerator on the market. Also we want a "good-looking" refrigerator.

We have the refrigerator that meets all of these requirements—and we invite you to come in and see for yourself. You'll be especially interested, we believe, in the AUTOMATIC WATER COOLING SYSTEM — something that will be in every home SOME day, and that is only to be had in the Automatic while the patents are in force.

TRAVELING MAN HAS STOMACH RECONSTRUCTED

Fainting Spells and Distress Relieved by Jaques' Little Wonder Capsules

"Last October," writes Walter Furmin, traveling salesman of Richfield Springs, N. Y., "when I was in Plattsburgh I was bothered a lot with indigestion, dyspepsia and a fainted feeling brought on by excess gas. Fainting spells would attack me suddenly, and I was in dire distress. In seeking relief, I was advised to try JAQUES' LITTLE WONDER CAPSULES. This I did and before reaching the hotel that night for retiring I had decided relief. I felt so much better the following morning that I purchased an additional box, and found that one capsule following each meal has since reconstructed my stomach and now feel remarkably well. My brother-in-law recently had an acute attack of indigestion, something that often troubled him, and within a few minutes after swallowing two of the capsules, he was relieved."

If you are one of the suffering ones you can still give your stomach by using Jaques' Little Wonder Capsules. Just swallow one or two capsules and you will find prompt relief. The pure gelatin covering dissolves within one or two minutes after reaching the stomach, releasing the finely powdered medicines to do their effective work. One capsule aids in digesting 5,000 grains of food.

If you are bothered with Indigestion, dyspepsia, catarrh of the stomach, sour stomach, dizziness after eating, gas, biliousness or constipation try this valuable prescription.

Twelve days' treatment costs but 60 cents. Jaques' Little Wonder Capsules are sold under a strict guarantee of satisfactory results or money refunded.

On sale at OREN'S PHARMACY, 224 North Main St., Rushville, Ind., or 60 cents by mail postpaid for large package from Jaques Capsule Co., Plattsburgh, N. Y.

Approximately twenty-five members of the Young People's Missionary Society of Center were royally entertained Wednesday evening at the First Baptist church by the members of the W. W. T. class. At 7:30 o'clock a delicious two course luncheon was served to the guests. Following the supper the members of the W. W. The first annual banquet of the Moscow high school alumni association was held Wednesday evening in the Blue Ridge Hall with approximately one hundred guests present. Blue and gold, the school colors, were used in the decorations of the banquet table. Large bouquets of lilies and tulips added to the beauty of the decorations. The program opened with two appropriate songs, which were parodies on "Old Black Joe" and "Auld Lang Syne." Mrs. Earl Harcourt acted as toastmaster, and the following guests responded with toasts: Mary Seright "Look Who's Here;" Clarence Alter, "Brass Tacks;" Marie Browning, "Crystal Gazing;" Hazel Shaw, "Needles and Pins;" William Ward, "History of the School;" Erma Tevis, "At the Foot of the Rainbow;" Roland Glenn, short talk on the school. More than one hundred and fifty Odd Fellows attended the celebration of the 103rd anniversary of the founding of the order at the Rushville hall Wednesday evening. A luncheon was served after the work.

The Independent Order of Odd Fellows was founded at Baltimore, April 26, 1819, at a meeting called by Thomas Wilsey and since that time the lodge has enjoyed a phenomenal growth.

Making Gowns At Home

BY HEDDA HOYT
(Written for the United Press)

New York, April 27.—"Women of Europe are 'Rolling their own' and staining their fingers to reduce the high cost of smoking," says a London daily paper.

The women of America can go them one better, for they are "Making their own," in spite of sticking their fingers in order to reduce the high cost of gowning.

Frocks are cut on such simple lines this season that any woman who is at all clever with the needle can produce copies of even the most fascinating imports. I say "copies," for it is better for the inexperienced dressmaker to follow in detail some ready-made gown than to attempt one of her own design. She may use her own color schemes and trimmings, but her silhouette must "hew to the line."

The keynote of the spring frock is simplicity. It relies wholly upon material and line for its smartness. Having selected a handsome material, one can follow the straight chemise lines with the wide kimono sleeves, eliminating waist-line problems and the irksome task of setting in sleeves. Even where the sleeve is set in, it is a straight huge affair that requires little fitting. Many of the new models slip on over the head, in which case packet openings, gown fastenings are not needed. Necks are usually the simple batteau shapes which can be finished with the peacock edge, if one is unfamiliar with the under bias band finish.

A gown which attracted considerable notice at a recent New York fashion show was cut on the simplest lines imaginable, or rather it was not cut at all. It was simply a wide piece of material three yards in length with a slash cut in the middle for the batteau neck and two side seams placed about seven inches inside the selvage running from about two inches above the waistline to the bottom of the skirt. The back and front sides had narrow slits near the waist line, through which a chain girdle was drawn and clasping with a pendant buckle in front. The selvage sides of the material were left open, forming a graceful rippled side draped effect. Only two seams are required for this gown and the neck and hem can be peeced if preferred. This is perhaps the most simple of the dressy models for the novice at sewing to start on. Its long graceful lines would be lovely made in a bright colored silk crepe for evening or dinner wear.

Almost every second frock one sees of late has the long side panel, which can be just a long straight piece of material attached at the low waist line. A lovely frock of this long waisted type is made of orange crepe, with side panels of black chiffon a narrow girdle of twisted chiffon finishes the low waist line. Many women are quite adept at embroidery work, although they would hesitate to attempt a dress. They will find numerous ways of applying their handiwork on the simple lined gown which will make it appear an elaborate creation. Flowered figures cut out of cretonne are being applied to silk crepes and summer materials with great success and tremendous prices are being asked for ready-made frocks of this type. Rose-colored flowers with green leaves on the black crepe give a decidedly "Frenchy" appearance to the black gown and summer frocks, such as organdies or white crepes, can be made charming in this way. A white frock bordered with yellow tulips about the hem and sleeves makes a pretty combination. In preparing the flowers for the material, cut just a little beyond the flower in order to have an edge to turn under, then following the outline of the flower bast it upon the material and catch with unnoticeable stitches from the underneath side of the goods.

Another garment which the home dressmaker can make is the silk sport costume which has a chemise dress similar to the ones I have previously described and a separate short cape. The cape is seldom lined but is finished around the edge with a bias fold of self or contrasting color. One should by all means have a pattern for the cape, for though it is simple to make, it must have the correct swing to it. Sometimes, however, these capes are nothing more or less

No Entanglements

Internationalists think they have discovered a new loophole through which they can draw the United States into active participation in the affairs of Europe. They pretend to see a desire on the part of President Harding and Secretary Hughes to take part in the settlement of European problems if only certain difficulties can be attended to. The Genoa conference appears to them to be the means by which the situation abroad will be so changed as to permit the United States to be actively represented on the reparations commission, and thus open the way for a more extensive involvement in European affairs.

Such people should disabuse their minds. If there is one policy to which this administration is committed above all else it is that of freedom from Old World entanglements. We are not represented at the Genoa political parley, and we have merely an observer to note and report on what the reparations commission does. Regardless of what may transpire at Genoa, there will be no occasion for the United States to alter its attitude toward the organizations that owe their existence to the Versailles Treaty. The Harding administration has been perfectly consistent in its foreign policy ever since it took office, and it will continue to hold aloof from matters solely of European concern.

Find The Way

The incessant war between capital and labor is one of the greatest obstructions to the prosperity of this country. It is ever present, and seems to have no end.

Every strike that occurs costs thousands of dollars. Often it runs into millions, and the whole country suffers because of a disagreement between a small proportion of the population.

Labor must be protected or it will be crushed by unscrupulous capitalists.

Capital must be protected or it will perish at the hands of unscrupulous labor leaders and the radical element of their following.

One can not exist without the other, and the country can not survive without both.

Under existing conditions neither side can be trusted to give the other a square deal all around. They have fought so long the Golden Rule appears to have passed from their memories.

And since the Golden Rule will not suffice, government rule should take its place.

Current Comment

Efficiency in Government.

(Marion Chronicle)

When it comes to the matter of economy in government, sensible people will recognize the fact that the chief desideratum is efficiency. A good doctor may cost a little more than a poor doctor, but who isn't willing to pay the price? It cost us about three times as much to produce the Chronicle today as it did ten years ago, but through the efficiency of our organization we are making money today where ten years ago the Chronicle was a losing proposition.

What the people want in a general way is that general public condition of things that will make best for their health, wealth and happiness.

Under the public service commission, Indiana today is enjoying the most favorable rates from its public utilities of any state in the middle west. Under the efficient administration of the highways department, Indiana is famous the country over for its excellent roads. Under the supervision of the board of accounts, Indiana is getting a better service through its public officials than it ever enjoyed before. When it comes to the matter of public health, fire protection and other things of a similar character, the state never was so well off as it is today and the people never so secure.

So far as we see the situation, it would be the height of folly for the people of Indiana to retrogress in the matter of its public commissions. We cannot afford to be penny wise and pound foolish. By all means let us seek economy, but do not let us seek economy at the expense of efficiency. The best business policy for the state, as for individuals, is to strive after economy through efficiency.

MAYOR TO PITCH FIRST BALL

Ralph Hewes, to Make His Debut
in Rushville Uniform, in Canadian League Last YearPlans are being rapidly completed for the opening of the Southern Indiana Baseball Association season in this city next Sunday at the West Third street park and it is expected that a large crowd will be on hand to witness the opening game. The Greensburg Eagles will be the attraction and the Tail Lights are determined to win and even up the count following the 8 to 3 defeat handed them last Sunday at Greensburg.Mayor Walter Thomas has promised to be present for the opening game Sunday and will pitch the first ball and Chief of Police O'Neil, who formerly was a star catcher, will be on the receiving end. Greensburg is expected to send a big delegation here for the game and with fair weather, the largest crowd in history is anticipated. It will be the first time that a Greensburg baseball team has played in Rushville since the days of the old Greensburg Reds and the famous Jim Geraghty team.With the signing of Ralph Hewes for mound duty, the Tail Lights will present a strong line-up and it is believed that they will be able to hold their own in the association.
With Hewes and Huddelson on the staff for pitching duty and the remainder of the squad intact, the team is regarded as the strongest ever representing Rushville. The infield and outfield are as good as the best and in a few games should be working smoothly. Barnhart, who is known here as Barney, has been signed for the season and will be seen at short and Al George will play the third sack. "Red" Wagner is slated to play second and with Shaw on, first, the infield is a stonewall.
Sharp, Smith, Joyee, Pearsey, Weber Wagner, also a catcher, and Hud-derson are available for the outfield. Dick Byrne will do the catching and he is as good as any in the league.Several improvements have been made at the baseball park and the fence in left field will be moved to give everyone a clear view. It is also planned to improve the grandstand within the near future to accommodate the crowds. In this connection the management announces that the admission this year will be fifty cents for all adults. Teams in the league all charge this amount, as the rules of the association call for a division of the receipts on a basis of a fifty cent admission. The fifty cent price, of course, includes the war tax.The management of the Tail Lights is determined to produce a winning team and the members of the squad are confident they will hold their own in the league race.
Eighteen games will be played at home and eleven abroad during the season. Greensburg, Hope, Greenwood, Shellyville, North Vernon, Madison, Brookville, Columbus and Batesville will be seen in action here this summer, assuring the fans of high class baseball. It is the in-

Raymond S. Springer, Speaking in Behalf of Senator New, Refers
to Child Labor Legislation

IN AN ADDRESS AT SALEM

Connersville Judge Declares Indiana
Senator's Term of Service
Should be Rewarded

Salem, Ind., April 27.—Speaking before a meeting here Wednesday night of Republicans interested in the candidacy of Senator Harry S.
New for renomination at the primary next week, Raymond S. Springer, judge of the Fayette county
circuit court, of Connersville, declared that speakers for Senator
New's opponent who have been saying that the present child-labor laws
were passed and became the law when he was in the Senate. Those making those statements were undoubtedly misinformed, or had given the matter no consideration or thought.

The present child-labor law was passed since Senator Harry S. New became one of Indiana's Senators, and he worked for and voted for that bill. Mr. Beveridge did introduce two child-labor bills, both of which were killed in committee. One child-labor bill, which applied exclusively to the District of Columbia, was passed while Mr. Beveridge was in the Senate. Still another child-labor bill was passed which was held to be unconstitutional. Therefore, our child-labor law which is now in force, is not the product of Mr. Beveridge. It was passed since Senator New was a member of the United States Senate, in the year 1919, and he worked for the passage of that child-labor bill and he voted for it.
If, therefore, any credit is due to any present candidate for our child-labor law, Senator New is entitled to that credit. Give it to him; give credit always where credit is due."

Judge Springer praised Senator
New's record and said that, in his opinion, his first term of faithful service should be rewarded by a second nomination. A vote for Senator
New, he said, will be a vote of confidence in President Harding and the national administration.

urday night at the lodge rooms, and a team from one of the Indianapolis camps, will be here to confer the ed for the meeting. A banquet will be served by the W. R. C. at 6 o'

GIVE CREDIT AS IT IS DUE, JUDGE SAYSRaymond S. Springer, Speaking in Behalf of Senator New, Refers
to Child Labor Legislation

IN AN ADDRESS AT SALEM

Connersville Judge Declares Indiana
Senator's Term of Service
Should be RewardedSalem, Ind., April 27.—Speaking before a meeting here Wednesday night of Republicans interested in the candidacy of Senator Harry S.
New for renomination at the primary next week, Raymond S. Springer,
judge of the Fayette county
circuit court, of Connersville, declared that speakers for Senator
New's opponent who have been saying that the present child-labor laws
were passed and became the law
when he was in the Senate. Those making those statements were undoubtedly misinformed, or had given the matter no consideration or thought.

The present child-labor law was passed since Senator Harry S. New became one of Indiana's Senators,
and he worked for and voted for
that bill. Mr. Beveridge did introduce two child-labor bills, both of which were killed in committee. One child-labor bill, which applied exclusively to the District of Columbia, was passed while Mr. Beveridge was in the Senate. Still another child-labor bill was passed which was held
to be unconstitutional. Therefore,
our child-labor law which is now in force, is not the product of Mr. Beveridge. It was passed since Senator New was a member of the United States Senate, in the year 1919, and
he worked for the passage of that
child-labor bill and he voted for it.
If, therefore, any credit is due to
any present candidate for our child-labor law, Senator New is entitled to that credit. Give it to him; give credit always where credit is due."

Judge Springer praised Senator
New's record and said that, in his opinion, his first term of faithful service should be rewarded by a second nomination. A vote for Senator
New, he said, will be a vote of confidence in President Harding and the national administration.

No Entanglements

Internationalists think they have discovered a new loophole through which they can draw the United States into active participation in the affairs of Europe. They pretend to see a desire on the part of President Harding and Secretary Hughes to take part in the settlement of European problems if only certain difficulties can be attended to. The Genoa conference appears to them to be the means by which the situation abroad will be so changed as to permit the United States to be actively represented on the reparations commission, and thus open the way for a more extensive involvement in European affairs.

Such people should disabuse their minds. If there is one policy to which this administration is committed above all else it is that of freedom from Old World entanglements. We are not represented at the Genoa political parley, and we have merely an observer to note and report on what the reparations commission does. Regardless of what may transpire at Genoa, there will be no occasion for the United States to alter its attitude toward the organizations that owe their existence to the Versailles Treaty. The Harding administration has been perfectly consistent in its foreign policy ever since it took office, and it will continue to hold aloof from matters solely of European concern.

Find The Way

The incessant war between capital and labor is one of the greatest obstructions to the prosperity of this country. It is ever present, and seems to have no end.

Every strike that occurs costs thousands of dollars. Often it runs into millions, and the whole country suffers because of a disagreement between a small proportion of the population.

Labor must be protected or it will be crushed by unscrupulous capitalists.

Capital must be protected or it will perish at the hands of unscrupulous labor leaders and the radical element of their following.

One can not exist without the other, and the country can not survive without both.

Under existing conditions neither side can be trusted to give the other a square deal all around. They have fought so long the Golden Rule appears to have passed from their memories.

And since the Golden Rule will not suffice, government rule should take its place.

Current Comment

Efficiency in Government.

(Marion Chronicle)

When it comes to the matter of economy in government, sensible people will recognize the fact that the chief desideratum is efficiency. A good doctor may cost a little more than a poor doctor, but who isn't willing to pay the price? It cost us about three times as much to produce the Chronicle today as it did ten years ago, but through the efficiency of our organization we are making money today where ten years ago the Chronicle was a losing proposition.

What the people want in a general way is that general public condition of things that will make best for their health, wealth and happiness. Under the public service commission, Indiana today is enjoying the most favorable rates from its public utilities of any state in the middle west. Under the efficient administration of the highways department, Indiana is famous the country over for its excellent roads.

Under the supervision of the board of accounts, Indiana is getting a better service through its public officials than it ever enjoyed before. When it comes to the matter of public health, fire protection and other things of a similar character, the state never was so well off as it is today and the people never so secure.

So far as we see the situation, it would be the height of folly for the people of Indiana to retrogress in the matter of its public commissions.

We cannot afford to be penny wise and pound foolish. By all means let us seek economy, but do not let us seek economy at the expense of efficiency. The best business policy for the state, as for individuals, is to strive after economy through efficiency.

RADIO

THINGS BEGINNERS MUST LEARN FIRST

Explanation of Terms Used in Radio and of Its Basic Principles.

Due to the great interest taken in radio since broadcasting stations have been started, many radio terms are seen and heard that may be unfamiliar to the novice. Some of the most commonly used terms are explained and defined below.

Like light, heat and sound, radio is propagated in the form of a wave motion. Every one is familiar with the wave motion set up on the surface of a still body of water by the dropping of a stone into it.

Every time a point on the surface of the waves goes through a complete set of motions and starts to repeat those motions the wave is said to have gone through a cycle.

The number of complete cycles gone through per second is the frequency.

The human ear is responsive to sound frequencies up to a few thousand cycles per second but is not capable of responding to the higher frequencies encountered in radio. Arbitrarily a frequency of less than 10,000 cycles has been called an audible frequency—one which can be heard—and frequencies above 10,000 cycles, radio or inaudible frequencies—because they cannot be heard by the human ear.

The particular type of wave which propagates radio energy is an electromagnetic wave. All of us have seen bits of iron and steel attracted by the little toy magnets made up in the form of horseshoes. This attraction of the magnet for the bits of iron and steel showed the existence of a magnetic field about the tips of the magnet and this same kind of a field propagates the electro-magnetic force, except that unlike the toy magnet, its power comes off in the form of wavy motions. This electro-magnetic force propagates radio energy in all directions.

The medium that transmits the electro-magnetic waves is the same medium that transmits light—the ether. This medium is supposed to fill all space, even that occupied by fluids and solids. Little is known about its properties. In radio it is more common to speak of wave length than frequency. The wave length of any wave motion is the distance between any two successive crests in the same direction. The wave length depends upon the frequency. If the frequency is high the wave length is short. On the other hand if the frequency is low the wave length is long. Numerically the wave length is equal to the distance traveled by the wave in one second divided by the frequency. Suppose, for example, that it were desired to know the wave length of an electro-magnetic wave having a frequency of 835,000 cycles. Electro-magnetic waves travel at the same speed as do light waves, that is, 186,000 miles per second. Dividing the 186,000 by 835,000 the wave length would be .223 miles or 396 yards. In radio work it is measured in meters. A meter is equal to approximately 1.1 yards. Converting 396 yards into meters the wave length would be 396 divided by 1.1 or 360 meters. This is the wave length on which KDKA operates. It also means that the electro-magnetic waves sent out from this station have a frequency of 835,000 cycles.

FUNDAMENTAL PRINCIPLES

In a radiophone transmitter there are two requirements that must be fulfilled. First, there must be a source of high-frequency current, say, between 15,000 and 1,500,000 cycles so connected to an antenna and ground system that energy in the form of electro-magnetic waves will be radiated. Second, there must be some method of controlling this high-frequency current or modulating it so that the variations in the amplitude of the high-frequency current will be directly proportional to the voice or music to be transmitted.

How One Editor Uses Radio.
The editor of a paper in an isolated town in the northwest is using the radio in a most ingenious and effective way. An amateur radio friend in a big city 50 miles away buys the latest editions of the city papers as soon as they are off the press, reads the best news into his transmitter, and a typist in the country office copies the news as it comes in over the office receiver. The editor, through this ingenious plan, is always "First With the Latest" in his home town.

To the Republican Voters of Rush County:

The undersigned are both candidates for renomination for the office of County Commissioner. We are now serving our first term.

It has been the party custom as far back as the memory of our oldest voters go to renominate our Commissioners for a second term. The office of Commissioner is one of great importance and the business connected therewith requires time and experience in order to become familiar with its duties.

We know of no reason why the long custom of the party should at this time be abandoned, and we respectfully ask the voters at the primary on next Tuesday, May 2nd, to give our candidacy for renomination favorable consideration.

electrical resonance. Stations transmitting on any wave-length other than 360 meters will not cause a current to be set up in the receiver.

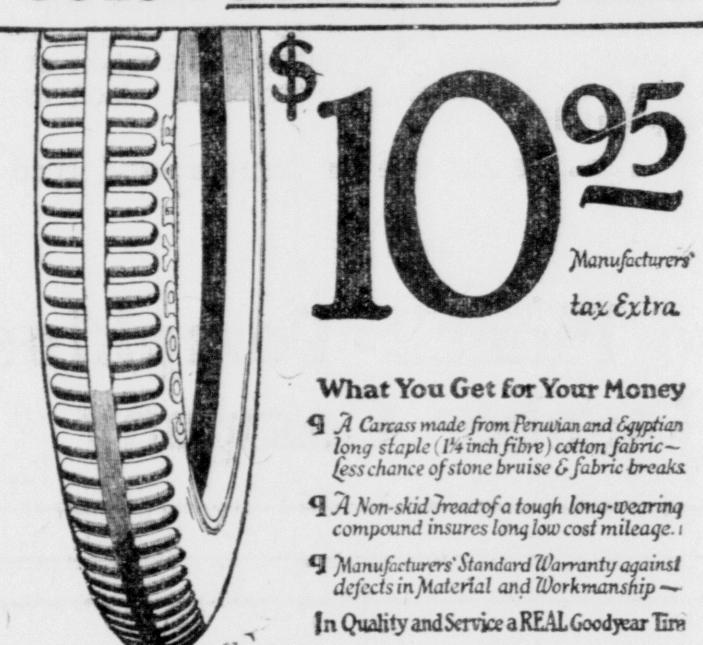

The portion of a radio receiver that changes the wave-length at which it is electrically resonant is called a tuner. Suppose that "A" station transmits on a wave-length of 200 meters and "B" on a wave-length of 360 meters. By adjusting the tuner until the constants of the receiver make it electrically resonant to a 200-meter wave or a 360-meter wave, either of the two stations can be picked up, but both stations cannot be picked up simultaneously. This is the reason that more than one transmitter can be operating at one time and yet only one can be heard on a receiver without interference from the others.

The other necessary part of a radio receiver is the detector. The function of this portion of the receiver is to utilize the small currents in the tuner that are set up by a transmitting station and make them audible through the medium of a telephone receiver. If the telephone receiver were connected directly to the tuner the high-frequency current would not operate the diaphragm of the receiver and even if the diaphragm were set in motion it would be too fast a motion to be picked up by the human ear.

In a simple receiver the detector usually consists of two pieces of mineral, in contact or a piece of mineral in contact with a metallic spring. Either combination is known as a crystal detector. A detector of this type is nothing more than a rectifier; that is, when an alternating current is applied at the terminals the current is allowed to flow only in one direction.

GRANTED A DIVORCE
FROM RUSHVILLE MAN

Mrs. Helen M. O'Reilly Given Custody of Child During School at Shelbyville, But Denied Alimony

$20 A MONTH SUPPORT ORDER

Shelbyville, Ind., April 27.—Mrs. Helen M. O'Reilly, of this city was granted a divorce Wednesday from John J. O'Reilly, a resident of Rushville, Ind., following the hearing of evidence on the complaint, which was filed in the Shelby circuit court last June. The plaintiff was refused judgment of alimony in the settlement of the case, her complaint having asked for payment of $1,000.

By the terms of an agreement between the couple, Mrs. O'Reilly was granted the custody of the daughter during the time that school is in session here. Mr. O'Reilly may have the custody of the child during the week-ends and was ordered to pay $20 a month for the support of the child.

Claude Henry, local attorney, served as special judge in the case. Cheney & Tolen were attorneys for Mrs. O'Reilly and Ed K. Adams of this city, represented the defendant.

AMUSEMENTS

"Headin' West," here Friday.

"Headin' West," the Universal Special Attraction at the Mystic Friday, is the story of a man who came home from the war and found that not all was glory in the returning. Hoot Gibson, champion rider and cowpuncher of the world as well as the star of many enjoyable pictures, has the stellar role.

He enters the tale via parachute, dropping off at a familiar spot on the scenery from an airplane in which he has bummmed his way across the continent, going to the foreman of his own ranch, he asks for a job as cowpuncher. Getting the laugh when he fails to ride a broncho that someone had "fixed" with a thorn under the saddle, he is appointed first assistant to the cook. His chief occupation from then on is peeling potatoes.

The story has its measure of thrills as well as humorous situations. Harvey Gates wrote it and William Craft directed. Supporting the star are such popular players of the screen as Louise Lorraine, Charles LeMoyne, Gertrude Short, Jim Corey, Leo White, George A. Williams and Frank Whitson.

Famous Star at Princess.

Rudolph Valentino, the dark, stalwart hero of Rex Ingram's productions for Metro, "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse" and "The Conquering Power," at the Princess today, has had a wide and varied career in other fields than moving pictures. Mr. Valentino was born in Italy twenty-seven years ago. He received his early education in the public schools of Italy, later attending the Royal Military College of Agriculture at Genoa.

At the age of eighteen, he came to the United States, intending to put into practice some of the knowledge of farming acquired at the agricultural college in his native land. Instead, he turned his attention to dancing, and soon gained an enviable reputation as a professional entertainer. He was the partner of Bonnie Glass, famous dancer, with whom he appeared at Rector's. Later, they appeared at the Winter Garden, where their success was so marked that they were signed for a vaudeville tour on the Orpheum circuit.

Diamonds Split Asunder.

That diamonds sometimes burst spontaneously is a belief dating back to the Middle Ages, and still widely prevalent, though nobody seems to have actually witnessed this phenomenon. Numerous broken fragments of diamonds are found in the vicinity of the Kimberley diamond mines in South Africa.

RADIO TAKES LEADING PLACE IN HOUSEHOLD

New Invention Permits Radio Fans
To Attach Their Apparatus to
an Electric Light Socket

ELIMINATES A BATTERY

Washington, Apr. 27.—The radio-phone today took its place in the list of household conveniences along with the electric iron and the vacuum cleaner.

A new invention of the bureau of standards at the department of commerce permits radio fans to attach their apparatus to an electric light socket and eliminate the cumbersome and not always convenient battery.

This, the experts say, will enable wireless phone fans to operate their machines with the ease and comfort of any other electrically attached device.

Every cabinet member now has a radiophone at his desk or home, or in both.

By special modes of connection it is possible to use the electric light wires themselves as antennae, but the signals are likely to come in with less strength when this is done.

A paper describing the possibilities in the new appliance is being prepared by the standards bureau
for distribution.

NO AGGRESSION
IN GRANT'S HEART

President Harding Says War President Believed in Nation Equipped For Defense

SPEAKS AT CENTENARY TODAY

Immense Crowd at Little Ohio River Town Pays Homage to Greatest Civil War General

(By United Press) Point Pleasant, O., April 27.—President Harding, speaking at the Grant centenary celebration here today, declared that though Grant "proclaimed the doctrine of moral disarmament at Appomattox, he believed in a nation equipped for righteous defense."

"But no aggression was in his breast," the president added.

In the little village on the banks of the Ohio river about 26 miles from Cincinnati, the president this afternoon paid homage to the memory of America's greatest civil war general.

His speech was broadcasted all over the surrounding country by radiophone. A transmitter was placed on the stand in front of the little village store where Harding spoke.

Although the itinerary of the president's trip was kept strictly secret, crowds gathered at stations along the way last night and this morning. Several times Harding appeared on the rear platform and chatted informally with the crowds.

Up the river from Cincinnati came a flotilla of river craft, bearing the President, the wife of the President, congressmen, high national officers, uniformed military officers, soldiers, state officials, men prominent in civil life and hundreds of other citizens. It moored at the landing and for the first time, though the little village gave to the nation a president, it was honored with the presence of the president of the United States.

Point Pleasant was expecting the distinguished guests and, though its citizens were few in number, as in the days when the man whose memory was to be honored trudged barefoot through the dusty streets, it extended open arms.

In the presidential party were Attorney-General Daugherty; George B. Christian, Jr., secretary to the President, and Mrs. Christian; Brigadier General Charles E. Sawyer, the President's physician, and Mrs. Sawyer; Mrs. Frederick Dent Grant, Mrs. Harry C. Corbin, E. B. McLean and Mrs. McLean, James Prendergast, Jess Smith, Dr. T. FRED HILLIGOSSE IS FINED

Several matters have been adjusted in Justice Stech's court, and today the case of J. T. Arbuckle against Harry Dawson, a suit for possession of a house and damages, was settled by agreement and judgment for possession and $27 was made in the case.

Another civil action filed by the Robert G. Ingersoll Company against Alva Poer, a suit on an account, has been dismissed at the plaintiff's costs. The suit filed by Delilah Rutherford against Henry Poe, a suit for possession, was dismissed in this court and resoled in the circuit court. The defendant had filed a motion for a change of venue from the township, and the plaintiff then withdrew the complaint in order to prevent the action being taken outside of the local court.

Fred Hilligoss, who was arraigned on three charges, was fined $1 and costs for intoxication, and the case of carrying concealed weapons was dismissed. A further charge of surety of peace, has been continued indefinitely. The charges were brought by Donald Laughlin, of near Milroy, who also was charged with issuing a fraudulent check, but this action was dismissed when the check was made good, it was said.

Press Most Brilliant Effort of the Statesman

(By United Press) Genoa, April 27.—"Germany will support loyally Lloyd George's plan for a pact of non-egression," Walter Rathenau of the German delegation declared in an address to the press this afternoon.

Rathenau followed the example of Lloyd George in summoning all the correspondents at Genoa to hear his statement of the German position.

"The proposed pact will constitute one of the greatest acts ever taken on behalf of humanity," he declared. "It will make the Genoa conference the greatest in the history of the world."

"Lloyd George's speech last night to the American and British newspapermen," Rathenau asserted, "was the most brilliant effort of the entire career of the far-sighted statesman, who holds in his hands the world's greatest responsibility."

"The declaration of Premier Lloyd George that this conference for which we are met, might establish justice, fairness and equity, touched me to the heart," Rathenau said.

"As I understand it, the speech opened a new channel of the Genoa conference, namely the introduction of a non-egression pact. If this pact expresses the ideas contained in Lloyd George's speech, we Germans will take both loyalty."

SPECIAL SONGS BIG "HITS"

S. L. Trabue and W. A. Young Delegates to International Convention—Jess Pugh Honorary Member

At the regular monthly meeting of the Kiwanis club at the K. of P. hall Wednesday evening, the program was turned over to the wives and women friends of the members—and they turned the trick in a very entertaining fashion, judging from the comments which were heard today from Kiwanians.

Mrs. Kennard Allen was in charge of the program and she and a corps of able assistants prepared some stunts which met with the hearty approval of the members of the club.

The women who participated in the stunts were Mrs. William A. Young, Mrs. Earl Osborne, Mrs. Curt Hester, Mrs. M. V. Brown, Mrs. Will Trenepohl, Mrs. Fred Arbuckle, Mrs. Derby Green, Mrs. Cullen Sexton, Mrs. George Helm and Mrs. Allen.

They sang some Kiwanis songs and also some selections especially prepared for the occasion, which were "hits" on the club and some of its members. Mrs. Hester was especially good in her imitation of a violin and of a negro girl discussing a dance with a friend over the telephone. Readings by Mrs. Osborn were also appreciated. Miss Maxine Brown was at the piano during the program, and for the banquet which was served by the Pythian Sisters, the Floethlyn orchestra of Greensburg provided the music.

Kiwanians selected their guests for the banquet by their feet. The women were behind a screen with only their feet exposed, and in this manner the banqueters were paired off. The Kiwanis club has a custom of entertaining their wives once each month at a night meeting.

At the business session of the club, Jess Pugh was elected an honorary member and Samuel L. Trabue, president, and William A. Young, secretary, were elected delegates to the annual international convention of Kiwanis clubs which will be held at Toronto, Canada in June. Dr. Frank H. Green and R. C. Hargrove were named as alternates.

Rathenau followed the example of Lloyd George in summoning all the correspondents at Genoa to hear his statement of the German position.

BEVERIDGE ARRIVES

Late in Reaching Rushville
From Columbus

SPEAK AT THE COURT HOUSE

Albert J. Beveridge, republican candidate for United States senator, arrived here this afternoon from Columbus, Ind., and was scheduled to speak at a meeting in the court room at the court house about three o'clock.

Mr. Beveridge was accompanied here by Judge Arthur Robinson of Indianapolis and several other workers. The meeting this afternoon was originally set for the coliseum at the city park, but on account of the cold weather, it was decided to change the location to the court house.

Mr. Beveridge and his party was traveling in an automobile and made several stops between Columbus and here this morning, which made them late in arriving this afternoon. Following the address here, the party will go to Newcastle, stopping off for a short time in Knightstown.

The crowd was gathering this afternoon for the meeting, and it was expected that the court room would be packed even though the weather did not permit many farmers to attend.

The plaintiff in this action seeks damages for his doctor bill, the retention from his work and for the mental anguish caused by the accident, and places his demand at $500.

In the second suit, Joseph Koman is plaintiff and Mr. Pearce and the Hoosier Casualty Company as defendants. It is charged that on the above date, the machine driven by Reifeis was going west and the Pearce machine was going east, and that the latter was driven recklessly onto the bridge at the same time, and a collision took place, damaging the Reifeis machine, which was insured in the Union Insurance Company, and which paid a claim for damages.

The plaintiff avers that he is seeking to collect for the insurance company as well as for damage which he sustained for not having the use of the machine for 30 days, and he places his demand for $500.

Early Social Life in Rush County

In Those Days, There Were Ten to Twelve Lusty Sprouts From the Family Tree, and at Neighborhood Gatherings, Such as Log-Rollings, Quiltings, and in Schools and Meetings, People Mingled Socially, Simple-Hearted and Unaframed of Each Other.

The following article is the third of a series regarding the early history of Rush County, which will be published in the Daily Republican between now and the Rush county centennial celebration in June. They will deal with various stages of the early development of the county and were written at the request and suggestion of the publicity committee for the centennial.—Editor's Note.

By The REV. T. B. GARY

My first acquaintance with the people of Rush county began in the year 1858 when I succeeded in forming an alliance with Miss Phebe J. Ball, the daughter of Johnathan and Asenath Ball. I was a roving itinerant circuit rider and I had to meet the sturdy head of the family who flung at me the trite saying, "A Rolling Stone Gathers no Moss."

With the wise proverb, a "Setting Hen Never Gets Fat," my brother-in-law met the farmer and I do not know at that exciting time, whether I should have succeeded in my suit or not, had not this brother-in-law come to help me out.

He had made the first break in family had emigrated from western Pennsylvania in 1836 and in the long trip were four weeks on the road. Instead of coming with a moving van they came in a big wagon drawn by a sturdy yoke of oxen.

But that prince of far-sighted men never unyoked those oxen till he lit upon Rush county, one of the richest agricultural counties of the state. And here they raised a family of ten sons and daughters, all of whom have passed the Great Divide save the youngest daughter, the relation of the last Reverend Robert Roberts.

The streams, Flatrock, Blue River and White Water were all without bridges, and the going abroad was with much difficulty.

In the homes the flax and wool were spun and woven into garments for old and young.

But a large crop of children was grown in the cabin home. Only think of the Balls, Holts, Leisures and Downeys and many others with patriarchal families some beyond that of Jacob in Bible times. Many such ranged from ten to twelve and fourteen lusty sprouts from the family tree.

And the gatherings, such as log rollings, quiltings and in schools and meetings how they mingled in

HALF DOZEN LAW
SUITS ARE FILED

Two Damage Suits For Combined Sum of $1,000 Against W. Manley Pearce in Circuit Court

AUTO ACCIDENT IS BASIS

Margaret F. Dudgeon of Glenwood Seeks Divorce From Jasper Dudgeon and $1,000 Alimony

A half dozen law suits have been filed in the circuit court including two damage suits, two account suits, divorce and a complaint for possession of property. The court is in vacation this week, and in all probability the suits placed on file today will be scheduled for trial during the next term which opens on Monday.

W. Manley Pearce of this city is defendant in two complaints for damages, as the result of an automobile collision on September 25, 1921, when his machine and a machine driven by Carl J. Reifeis, ran together on a bridge two miles east of New Palestine.

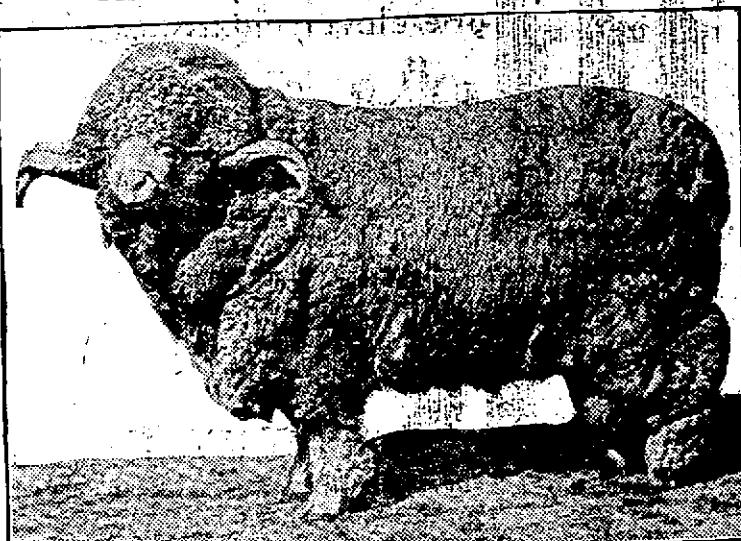

The first suit was filed by the above named party, with the Union Insurance Company as one of the plaintiffs and with Mr. Pearce and the Hoosier Casualty Company as defendants. It is charged that on the above date, the machine driven by Reifeis was going west and the Pearce machine was going east, and that the latter was driven recklessly onto the bridge at the same time, and a collision took place, damaging the Reifeis machine, which was insured in the Union Insurance Company, and which paid a claim for damages.

The plaintiff avers that he is seeking to collect for the insurance company as well as for damage which he sustained for not having the use of the machine for 30 days, and he places his demand for $500.

In the second suit, Joseph Koman is plaintiff and Mr. Pearce and the Hoosier Casualty Insurance Co. are defendants. It is charged in this complaint that Koman was riding in the machine with Reifeis at the time of the accident and was injured, and sets out in the complaint that he was "severely injured in and about the body, back and hips, and as a result received two broken ribs, a badly sprained hip and back, and the thumb of his right hand was thrown out of joint and severely sprained and bruised."

The plaintiff in this action seeks damages for his doctor bill, the retention from his work and for the mental anguish caused by the accident, and places his demand at $500.

MAINTAIN FLOCK OF SHEEP IN ADDITION TO OTHER LIVE STOCK

A Grand Championship Prize Winning Rambouillet Ram.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Recognizing the adaptability of sheep to a wide range of territory, extension workers of the United States Department of Agriculture and the state agricultural colleges have steadily encouraged the maintenance of a flock of sheep in addition to other live stock on the farm in sections where farm flocks can be profitably handled. The introduction of purebred stock and the establishing of breeding flocks has been an important feature of extension work in Connecticut and Pennsylvania in the East, and in Utah, Washington state, and New Mexico in the West.

In Pennsylvania purebred ram clubs have been organized and are operating successfully. These clubs consist of three units of farm flocks each. A ram is purchased for each unit. He is used in each unit two years and then transferred from one unit to another until he has been used in all three units of the club. The county agent in McKean county aided in organizing three ram clubs during 1920, providing nine good rams of Shropshire breeding for the flocks of members of these clubs. All of these rams are grandsons of Minton's 51, one of the greatest show rams at the International in the past few years. Ram pasture is being used to fatten lambs. These clubs will also procure purebred Shropshire ewes, so that each member will eventually have a purebred flock.

Through the assistance given by the sheep specialist at the state agricultural college nine ram clubs were organized in Pennsylvania during 1920; $3,000 worth of purebred sheep were selected and purchased by farmers in the state in this connection. Supplementing the organization of these associations and the introduction of new stock, 33 shearing, docking, and dipping demonstrations were held, attended by over 700 people.

Utah has made notable progress in making the farm flock a factor of importance in its livestock production. In Iron county, where practically all the rams are now purebred, the sheep breeders have concentrated on the Rambouillet and grow enough stock of this breed to supply largely the demand in southern Utah for purebred animals. An outgrowth of this work is the Rambouillet sheep show, which is annually the big feature of boys and girls who could not afford to start flocks by purchasing sheep. Those who could get milk or dried milk were given the lambs, and 19 boys and girls altogether, took charge of 158 lambs. Only nine of these were lost during the entire season. Cows' milk was found to be the most satisfactory food, but dried milk was very convenient for use on grazing fields. One boy kept 15 lambs at his home, all of which did well. The same problem was met in a different fashion at Padillas, Bernalillo County, N. Mex., where five club members secured from two to five orphan lambs each and raised them with a goat for a mother.

The outlook for an increase in the number of farm flocks generally throughout the United States is promising. Adult farmers and farm boys and girls are finding the breeding of purebred sheep a profitable line of production, fitting in well with farm activities already established. Extension workers generally should feel encouraged in advocating the adding of flocks of sheep to live stock on farms where conditions are reasonably favorable to wool and mutton production.

SQUASHES IN HOME GARDENS

Small-Growing Plants Are Best Suited for Average Garden—Use White Young and Tender.

Two distinct types of squashes are commonly grown in home gardens—the summer squashes, the fruits of which are used while they are young and tender, and the fall and winter squashes, which are ripened and used during the winter months. The small-growing summer squashes are best adapted to planting in the average garden. The larger, or standard, varieties are better adapted to field culture, although one or two hills might be planted in a corner or along one side of the garden. The hills in which summer squashes are grown should be fully four feet apart and a little manure and fertilizer should be worked into each hill as it is being made.

PLAN TO RAISE ARTICHOKE

Seed May Be Planted in Spring as Soon as Soil Is Warm—Use Well-Rotted Manure.

Deep, rich sandy loam, with a liberal supply of well-rotted manure, is best suited for growing globe artichokes. Plant the seeds as soon as the soil is warm in the spring, and when the plants have formed three or four leaves they may be transplanted to rows three feet apart and two feet apart in the row. The plants do not produce until the second season, and in cold localities some form of covering will be necessary during the winter. This crop is not suited for cultivation north of the line of zero-temperature. U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Boys' and girls' club members have been encouraged to form sheep clubs and grow sheep with marked success. Local banks have helped to finance

PIMPLY? WELL, DON'T BE

People Notice It. Drive Them Off with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

A pimply face will not embarrass you much longer if you get a package of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The skin should begin to clear after you have taken the tablets a few nights.

Cleanse the blood, bowels and liver with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the successful substitute for calomel; there's no sickness or pain after taking them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do that which calomel does, and just as effectively, but their action is gentle and safe instead of severe and irritating.

No one who takes Olive Tablets is ever cursed with a "dark brown taste," a bad breath, a dull, listless, "no good" feeling, constipation, torpid liver, bad disposition or pimply face.

Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color.

Dr. Edwards spent years among patients afflicted with liver and bowel complaints and Olive Tablets are the immensely effective result. Take one or two nightly for a week. See how much better you feel and look. 15c and 30c.

THE VICTORIOUS MARCH

Notwithstanding the fact that tuberculosis takes the lives of 150,000 people each year in this country, it is not gaining ground. On the contrary it has lost much ground, and certainly the movement is a triumphant march against this subtle enemy of mankind.

The National Tuberculosis Association, which is leading in the campaign calculated to wipe out the "Great White Plague," has been waging an open war against it for the last sixteen years. When the campaign was inaugurated little was being done but with the passing of the years the fight has been intensified.

Sixteen years ago only five states were making active organized efforts to cope with tuberculosis. At this time everyone of the forty-eight states has an anti-tuberculosis association while associations are also operating in Hawaii and in the Philippines. In addition there are about 1,000 other associations and societies actively engaged in the same work.

Sixteen years ago there were only 100 hospitals and sanatoriums for the treatment of tuberculosis. Most of these institutions were improperly or meagerly equipped. Today there are over 600 special tuberculosis hospitals and sanatoriums and more than 500 clinics and dispensaries, all well equipped to handle the work necessary to be done.

Sixteen years ago the limited funds for the fight against tuberculosis came from a very few contributors but today the work of the National Tuberculosis Association and the 1,000 state and local organizations with which it is affiliated, is financed chiefly by the sale of Tuberculosis Christmas seals annually which enables the public to have a part in a movement calculated solely to promote their health and general welfare.

Sixteen years ago the death rate from tuberculosis in the United States was 200 per 100,000 population. The death rate in 1918, the last available official figure, had fallen to 149 to each 100,000 population. The work that has been accomplished the last few years is indeed cause for congratulation and affords great encouragement for the future. However, much remains to be done along this line. Tuberculosis is clearly a preventable disease and the lives of the 150,000 people who die from it annually are absolutely wasted.

Everybody should enlist and have a definite part in the war against the dread disease, and every enlistment should be for an indefinite period. The National Tuberculosis Association and other agencies assisting it will lead in the fight. Once the great majority of the people are aroused to action, the onward march to victory will be certain and without delay. And this victory will be one over the world's greatest enemy.

It is not necessary to die from tuberculosis today. If discovered early enough, the disease can be cured. The early discovery of tuberculosis, however, requires an examination by one who has given this subject considerable thought. Dr. James H. Stygall, of the Indiana Tuberculosis Association, a specialist in this disease, will hold a free clinic at Rushville on May 1. This clinic, which is being given by the Rush County Tuberculosis Association, will be held at the office of Dr. J. M. Lee, from 10 to 12 and 2 to 5 o'clock.

GROW CUCUMBERS ON FENCES

Plants Require Considerable Space, and for That Reason Are Not Suitable for Small Garden.

Two to five hills of cucumbers usually will produce enough for the ordinary family. Cucumbers require considerable space, and for that reason they may not fit into the scheme of small gardens. It is possible, however, to plant the cucumbers along a fence or near a building and train the vines on a support of wire or strings so that they will not encumber the ground or occupy the space required by other crops. In making the hills or the row in which the seeds are planted, a small amount of well-decayed manure should be mixed with the soil. A little fertilizer also helps, but it should be used carefully to prevent injury. —United States Department of Agriculture.

North and South Unite

Washington, D. C., April 27.—North and South united here today in paying honor to General Ulysses S. Grant, with the unveiling of the memorial to the general and ex-president.

Veterans of the Federal and Confederate forces stood side by side and paid a soldier's homage to the great military leader. The Secretary of War, the Secretary of the Navy, the Vice-President, the commanders of the Grand Army of the Republic and the United Confederate veterans, representatives of West Point and Annapolis joined with the veterans.

A brilliant parade from the White House down Pennsylvania Avenue to the site of the memorial, participated in by various military organizations, preceded the unveiling of the memorial.

The memorial was unveiled by the two great granddaughters of the ex-president, the Princess Ida Cantacuzene and Miss Edith Grant, granddaughters of General Frederick D. Grant. Secretary of War Weeks presented the memorial on behalf of the Grant Memorial Commission. The speech of acceptance was delivered by Vice-President Coolidge, on behalf of the government and the people of the United States.

OPERATORS CONTRIBUTED

Charleston, W. Va., April 27.—Fifty-seven operators and forty-five locals of the United Mine Workers of America in West Virginia were listed today by the prosecution in the treason trials of contributors to the mine war fund in the march on Logan county.

VOTERS LAW VIOLATED

Indianapolis, Ind., April 27.—Gross violations of the absent voters law were charged by Governor McRae in a statement issued today.

Reports from Evansville to the governor said a house-to-house canvass had been made in the interest of some candidates in the primary election.

PEOPLE ARE ARMING

Evansville, Ind., April 27.—People of Evansville are arming themselves against the rims wave. According to local hardware dealers, they are buying more revolvers than usual.

"We are selling more to the people in the suburbs," one hardware dealer said.

Refrigerators are not bought these days as they used to be, when all we wanted to know was whether an "ice box" was "big enough" to hold all the things we wished to chuck into it.

Today we are modern. We want to know if a refrigerator is or is NOT an "ice-eater." We want to know if our foods will keep COLD, sweet and wholesome; we want to know that we are protecting the HEALTH of the entire family; we want to know that we are getting not only the most scientifically-built but the BEST-built, and the MOST-ECONOMICAL refrigerator on the market. Also, we want a "good-looking" refrigerator.

We have the refrigerator that meets all of these requirements—and we invite you to come in and see for yourself. You'll be especially interested, we believe, in the AUTOMATIC WATER COOLING SYSTEM — something that will be in every home SOME day, and that is only to be had in the Automatic while the patents are in force.

TRAVELING MAN HAS STOMACH RECONSTRUCTED

Fainting Spells and Distress Relieved by Jaques' Little Wonder Capsules

"Last October," writes Walter Furman, traveling salesman of Richfield Springs, N.Y., "when I was in Plattsburg I was bothered a lot with indigestion, dyspepsia and a bloated feeling brought on by excess gas. Fainting spells would attack me suddenly, and I was in dire distress. In seeking relief, I was advised to try JAQUES' LITTLE WONDER CAPSULES. This I did and before reaching the hotel that night for retiring I had decided relief. I felt so much better the following morning that I purchased an additional box, and found that one capsule following each meal has since reconstructed my stomach and now feel remarkably well. My brother-in-law recently had an acute attack of indigestion, something that often troubled him, and within a few minutes after swallowing two of the capsules, he was relieved."

If you are one of the suffering ones you can still save your stomach by using Jaques' Little Wonder Capsules. Just swallow one or two capsules and you will find prompt relief. The pure gelatin covering dissolves within one or two minutes after reaching the stomach, releasing the finely powdered medicines to do their effective work. One capsule aids in digesting 5,000 grains of food.

If you are bothered with indigestion, dyspepsia, catarrh of the stomach, sour stomach, dizziness after eating, gas, biliousness or constipation try this valuable prescription.

The first annual banquet of the Moscow high school alumni association was held Wednesday evening in the Blue Ridge Hall with approximately one hundred guests present. Blue and gold, the school colors, were used in the decorations of the banquet table. Large bouquets of lilies and tulips added to the beauty of the decorations. The program opened with two appropriate songs, which were parodies on "Old Black Joe" and "Auld Lang Syne." Mrs. Earl Harcourt acted as toastmaster, and the following guests responded with toasts: Mary Seright "Look Who's Here," Clarence Alter, "Brass Tacks;" Marie Browning, "Crystal Gazing;" Hazel Shaw, "Needles and Pins;" William Ward, "History of the School;" Erma Tevis, "At the Foot of the Rainbow;" Roland Glenn, short talk on the school. Two clever original musical numbers closed the program for the evening.

A splendid entertainment was given Wednesday evening at the Christian church in Glenwood under the auspices of the Women's Missionary Society of the church. Members of the American Literary club enjoyed a very delightful day Wednesday when they were entertained with a delicious pitch-in dinner at the home of Mrs. Fred Oldham north of the city. Approximately twenty-five members of the Young People's Missionary Society of Center were royally entertained Wednesday evening at the First Baptist church by the members of the W. W. T. class. At 7:30 o'clock a delicious two course luncheon was served to the guests. Following the supper the members of the W. W. T. class gave a clever little playlet which provided much amusement for their audience. The remainder of the evening was enjoyed with games, contests and music.

Arlington I. O. O. F. Staff Gives First Degree to Four Candidates

More than one hundred and fifty Odd Fellows attended the celebration of the 103rd anniversary of the founding of the order at the Rushville hall Wednesday evening. The first degree was given a class of four candidates in dramatic style by the Arlington degree staff, which has its own orchestra and music for the degree specially written by Earl Downey of Arlington. A lunch was served after the work.

The Independent Order of Odd Fellows was founded at Baltimore, April 26, 1819, at a meeting called by Thomas Wilsey and since that time the lodge has enjoyed a phenomenal growth.

Making Gowns At Home

BY HEDDA HOYT
(Written for the United Press)

New York, April 27.—"Women of Europe are 'Rolling their own' and staining their fingers to reduce the high cost of smoking," says a London daily paper.

The women of America can go them one better, for they are "Making their own" in spite of sticking their fingers in order to reduce the high cost of gowning.

Frocks are cut on such simple lines this season that any woman who is at all clever with the needle can produce copies of even the most fascinating imports. I say "copies," for it is better for the inexperienced dressmaker to follow in detail some ready-made gown than to attempt one of her own design. She may use her own color schemes and trimmings, but her silhouette must "hew to the line."

The keynote of the spring frock is simplicity. It relies wholly upon material and line for its smartness. Having selected a handsome material, one can follow the straight chemise lines with the wide kimono sleeves, eliminating waist-line problems and the irksome task of setting in sleeves. Even where the sleeve is set in, it is a straight huge affair that requires little fitting. Many of the new models slip on over the head, in which case packet openings, gown fastenings are not needed. Necks are usually the simple batteau shapes which can be finished with the peacock edge, if one is unfamiliar with the under bain band finish.

A gown which attracted considerable notice at a recent New York fashion show was cut on the simplest lines imaginable, or rather it was not cut at all. It was simply a wide piece of material three yards in length with a slash cut in the middle for the batteau neck and two side seams placed about seven inches inside the selvage running from about two inches above the waistline to the bottom of the skirt. The back and front sides had narrow slits near the waist line, through which a chain girdle was drawn and clasped with a pendant buckle in front. The selvage sides of the material were left open, forming a graceful rippled side draped effect. Only two seams are required for this gown and the neck and hem can be peccot if preferred. This is perhaps the most simple of the dressy models for the novices to sewing to start on. Its long graceful lines would be lovely made in a bright colored silk crepe for evening or dinner wear.

Almost every second frock one sees of late has the long side panel, which can be just a long straight piece of material attached at the low waist line. A lovely frock of this long waisted type is made of orange crepe, with side panels of black chiffon; a narrow girdle of twisted chiffon finishes the low waist line.

Many women are quite adept at embroidery work, although they would hesitate to attempt a dress. They will find numerous ways of applying their handiwork on the simple lined gown which will make it appear an elaborate creation. Flowered figures cut out of cretonne are being appliqued to silk crepes and summer materials with great success and tremendous prices are being asked for ready-made frocks of this type. Rose-colored flowers with green leaves on the black crepe give a decidedly "Frenchy" appearance to the black gown and summer frocks, such as organdie or white crepes, can be made charming in this way. A white frock bordered with yellow tulips about the hem and sleeves makes a pretty combination. In preparing the flowers for the material, cut just a little beyond the flower in order to have an edge to turn under, then following the outline of the flower fast it upon the material and catch with unnoticeable stitches from the underneath side of the

Another garment which the home dressmaker can make is the silk sport costume which has a chemise dress similar to the ones I have previously described and a separate short cape. The cape is seldom lined but is finished around the edge with a bias fold of self or contrasting color. One should by all means have a pattern for the cape, for though it is simple to make, it must have the correct swing to it. Sometimes, however, these capes are nothing more or less

Internationalists think they have discovered a new loophole, through which they can draw the United States into active participation in the affairs of Europe. They pretend to see a desire on the part of President Harding and Secretary Hughes to take part in the settlement of European problems if only certain difficulties can be attended to. The Genoa conference appears to them to be the means by which the situation abroad will be so changed as to permit the United States to be actively represented on the reparations commission, and thus open the way for a more extensive involvement in European affairs.

Such people should disabuse their minds. If there is one policy to which this administration is committed above all else it is that of freedom from Old World entanglements. We are not represented at the Genoa political parley, and we have merely an observer to note and report on what the reparations commission does. Regardless of what may transpire at Genoa, there will be no occasion for the United States to alter its attitude toward the organizations that owe their existence to the Versailles Treaty. The Harding administration has been perfectly consistent in its foreign policy ever since it took office, and it will continue to hold aloof from matters solely of European concern.

Find The Way

The incessant war between capital and labor is one of the greatest obstructions to the prosperity of this country. It is ever present, and seems to have no end.

Every strike that occurs costs thousands of dollars. Often it runs into millions, and the whole country suffers because of a disagreement between a small proportion of the population.

Labor must be protected or it will be crushed by unscrupulous capitalists.

Capital must be protected or it will perish at the hands of unscrupulous labor leaders and the radical element of their following.

One can not exist without the other, and the country can not survive without both.

Under existing conditions, neither side can be trusted to give the other a square deal all around. They have fought so long the Golden Rule appears to have passed from their memories.

And since the Golden Rule will not suffice, government rule should take its place.

Current Comment

Efficiency in Government.

When it comes to the matter of economy in government, sensible people will recognize the fact that the chief desideratum is efficiency. A good doctor may cost a little more than a poor doctor, but who isn't willing to pay the price? It cost us about three times as much to produce the Chronicle today as it did ten years ago, but through the efficiency of our organization we are making money today where ten years ago the Chronicle was a losing proposition. What the people want in a general way is that general public condition of things that will make best for their health, wealth and happiness. Under the public service commission, Indiana today is enjoying the most favorable rates from its public utilities of any state in the middle west. Under the efficient administration of the highways department, Indiana is famous the country over for its excellent roads. Under the supervision of the board of accounts, Indiana is getting a better service through its public officials than it ever enjoyed before. When it comes to the matter of public health, fire protection and other things of a similar character, the state never was so well off as it is today and the people never so secure.

So far as we see the situation, it would be the height of folly for the people of Indiana to retrogress in the matter of its public commissions. We cannot afford to be penny wise and pound foolish. By all means let us seek economy, but do not let us seek economy at the expense of efficiency. The best business policy for the state, as for individuals, is to strive after economy through efficiency.

LOUIS C. HINERALL SET FOR THE LEAGUE OPENINGTail Lights Will Present Strongest Lineup When Greensburg Eagles
Come Sunday

MAYOR TO PITCH FIRST BALL

Ralph Hewes, to Make His Debut
in Rushville Uniform, in Canadian League Last Year

Plans are being rapidly completed for the opening of the Southern Indiana Baseball Association season in this city next Sunday at the West Third street park and it is expected that a large crowd will be on hand to witness the opening game. The Greensburg Eagles will be the attraction and the Tail Lights are determined to win and even up the count, following the 8 to 3 defeat handed them last Sunday at Greensburg.

Major Walter Thomas has promised to be present for the opening game Sunday and will pitch the first ball and Chief of Police O'Neill, who formerly was a star catcher, will be on the receiving end. Greensburg is expected to send a big delegation here for the game and with fair weather, the largest crowd in history is anticipated. It will be the first time that a Greensburg baseball team has played in Rushville since the days of the old Greensburg Reds and the famous Jim Gernaghty team.

With the signing of Ralph Hewes for mound duty, the Tail Lights will present a strong line-up and it is believed that they will be able to hold their own in the association. With Hewes and Hudelson on the staff for pitching duty and the remainder of the squad intact, the team is regarded as the strongest ever representing Rushville. The infield and outfield are as good as the best and in a few games should be working smoothly. Barnhart, who is known here as Barney, has been signed for the season and will be seen at short and Al George will play the third sack. "Red" Wagner is slated to play second and with Shaw on, first, the infield is a stonewall. Sharp, Smith, Joyce, Pearsey, Weber Wagner, also a catcher, and Hudelson are available for the outfield. Dick Byrne will do the catching and he is as good as any in the league.

Several improvements have been made at the baseball park and the fence in left field will be moved to give everyone a clear view. It is also planned to improve the grand stand within the near future to accommodate the crowds. In this connection the management announces that the admission this year will be fifty cents for all adults. Teams in the league all charge this amount, as the rules of the association call for a division of the receipts on a basis of a fifty cent admission. The fifty cent price, of course, includes the war tax.

The management of the Tail Lights is determined to produce a winning team and the members of the squad are confident they will hold their own in the league race. Eighteen games will be played at home and eleven abroad during the season. Greensburg, Hope, Greenwood, Shelbyville, North Vernon, Madison, Brookville, Columbus and Batesville will be seen in action here this summer, assuring the fans of high class baseball. It is the intention here to have a team to compete.

Ralph Hewes, the new pitcher on the staff, is a right hander and weighs 190 pounds. He comes here highly recommended and with Hudelson on the string, the pitching department will be in good shape. Hewes pitched in the Canadian lea-

GIVE CREDIT AS IT IS DUE, JUDGE SAYS

Raymond S. Springer, Speaking in Behalf of Senator New, Refers
to Child Labor Legislation

IN AN ADDRESS AT SALEM

Connersville Judge Declares Indiana
Senator's Term of Service
Should be Rewarded

Salem, Ind., April 27.—Speaking before a meeting here Wednesday night of Republicans interested in the candidacy of Senator Harry S. New for renomination at the primary next week, Raymond S. Springer, judge of the Fayette county circuit court, of Connorsville, declared that speakers for Senator New's opponent who have been saying that the present child-labor laws were passed and became the law when he was in the Senate. Those making those statements were undoubtedly misinformed, or had given the matter no consideration or thought.

The present child-labor law was passed since Senator Harry S. New became one of Indiana's Senators, and he worked for and voted for that bill. Mr. Beveridge did introduce two child-labor bills, both of which were killed in committee. One child-labor bill, which applied exclusively to the District of Columbia, was passed while Mr. Beveridge was in the Senate. Still another child-labor bill was passed which was held to be unconstitutional. Therefore, our child-labor law which is now in force, is not the product of Mr. Beveridge. It was passed since Senator New was a member of the United States Senate, in the year 1919, and he worked for the passage of that child-labor bill and he voted for it. If, therefore, any credit is due to any present candidate for our child-labor law, Senator New is entitled to that credit. Give it to him; give credit always where credit is due."

Judge Springer praised Senator New's record and said that, in his opinion, his first term of faithful service should be rewarded by a second nomination. A vote for Senator New, he said, will be a vote of confidence in President Harding and the national administration.

Because Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Re- stored My Health

Hornell, N. Y.—"I was in bad health but there didn't seem to be any one thing the matter with me. I was tired out all over and it was an effort for me to move. I was irritable and could not sleep nights and had trouble with my bowels and at my periods. It seemed that nearly everyone around me knew of your medicine and wanted me to try it, so at last I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Tablets and Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Medicine and improved every day. I do all my own work now and the washing and do it with ease. I can accomplish as much in a day now as it would have taken me a week to do last winter and I try to get everyone to know of your medicine to build them up. You are welcome to use this letter as a testimonial if you like."—Mrs. CHAS. BAKER, 21 Spencer Ave., Hornell, N.Y.

RADIO

THINGS BEGINNERS MUST LEARN FIRST

Explanation of Terms Used in Radio and of Its Basic Principles.

Due to the great interest taken in radio since broadcasting stations have been started, many radio terms are seen and heard that may be unfamiliar to the novice. Some of the most commonly used terms are explained and defined below.

Like light, heat and sound, radio energy is propagated in the form of a wave motion. Every one is familiar with the wave motion set up on the surface of a still body of water by the dropping of a stone into it.

Every time a point on the surface of the waves goes through a complete set of motions and starts to repeat those motions the wave is said to have gone through a cycle.

The number of complete cycles gone through per second is the frequency.

The human ear is responsive to sound frequencies up to a few thousand cycles per second but is not capable of responding to the higher frequencies encountered in radio. Arbitrarily a frequency of less than 10,000 cycles has been called an audible frequency—one which can be heard—and frequencies above 10,000 cycles, radio or inaudible frequencies—because they cannot be heard by the human ear.

The particular type of wave which propagates radio energy is an electro-magnetic wave. All of us have seen bits of iron and steel attracted by the little toy magnets made up in the form of horseshoes. This attraction of the magnet for the bits of iron and steel showed the existence of a magnetic

The high-frequency current is known as the carrier-wave and its function is to radiate into space in the form of electro-magnetic waves and by its variation in amplitude carry with it the variation in the tone at the transmitting station.

It is the frequency of the carrier-wave that determines the wave-length on which a radiophone station is transmitted. By experiment it has been found that electro-magnetic waves travel at the same velocity that light waves travel, that is, 186,000 miles per second. Wave-length is the distance between any two similar points on two successive waves; for example, the distance from crest to crest of any two successive waves in the same direction, measured in meters, a unit of length equal approximately to one and one-tenth yards. Converting 186,000 miles to meters, the equivalent is 300,000,000 meters. The length of an electro-magnetic wave is equal then to 300,000,000 divided by the frequency. Suppose a station was transmitting on a wavelength of 360 meters. The frequency of the carrier-wave would be approximately 835,000 cycles.

Just as a violinist tunes his instrument, that is, makes a certain string emit a note of higher or lower pitch, or technically speaking, a sound wave of higher or lower frequency, by adjusting the tension on the string, so may the electrical constants of the antenna circuit of a radiophone transmitter be changed in order to have the station emit a carrier-wave of a different frequency.

If a tuning fork having a natural period corresponding to middle C be placed near a violinist who is playing, the fork will vibrate when the musician plays middle C, but all other times it will remain quiescent. This phenomenon of the tuning fork vibrating whenever the musician plays the corresponding note on the violin is known as mechanical resonance. If a radio receiver be adjusted so that electrically its natural period of vibration will be 835,000 cycles (360 meters wavelength) every time a station transmits on a wavelength of 360 meters, current will be set up in the receiver by field about the tips of the magnet and this same kind of a field propagates the electro-magnetic force, except that unlike the toy magnet, its power comes off in the form of wavy motions. This electro-magnetic force propagates radio energy in all directions.

The medium that transmits the electro-magnetic waves is the same medium that transmits light—the ether. This medium is supposed to fill all space, even that occupied by fluids and solids. Little is known about its properties.

In radio it is more common to speak of wave length than frequency. The wave length of any wave motion is the distance between any two successive crests in the same direction. The wave length depends upon the frequency. If the frequency is high the wave length is short. On the other hand if the frequency is low the wave length is long. Numerically the wave length is equal to the distance traveled by the wave in one second divided by the frequency. Suppose, for example, that it were desired to know the wave length of an electro-magnetic wave having a frequency of 835,000 cycles. Electro-magnetic waves travel at the same speed as do light waves, that is, 186,000 miles per second. Dividing the 186,000 by 835,000 the wave length would be .223 miles or 360 yards.

In radio work it is measured in meters. A meter is equal to approximately 1.1 yards. Converting 360 yards into meters the wave length would be .366 divided by 1.1 or 360 meters.

This is the wave length on which KDKA operates. It also means that the electro-magnetic waves sent out from this station have a frequency of 835,000 cycles.

FUNDAMENTAL PRINCIPLES

In a radiophone transmitter there are two requirements that must be fulfilled. First, there must be a source of high-frequency current, say, between 15,000 and 1,500,000 cycles so connected to an antenna and ground system that energy in the form of electro-magnetic waves will be radiated. Second, there must be some method of controlling this high-frequency current or modulating it so that the variations in the amplitude of the high-frequency current will be directly proportional to the voice or music to be transmitted.

To the Republican Voters of Rush County:

The undersigned are both candidates for renomination for the office of County Commissioner. We are now serving our first term.

It has been the party custom as far back as the memory of our oldest voters go to renominate our Commissioners for a second term. The office of Commissioner is one of great importance and the business connected therewith requires time and experience in order to become familiar with its duties.

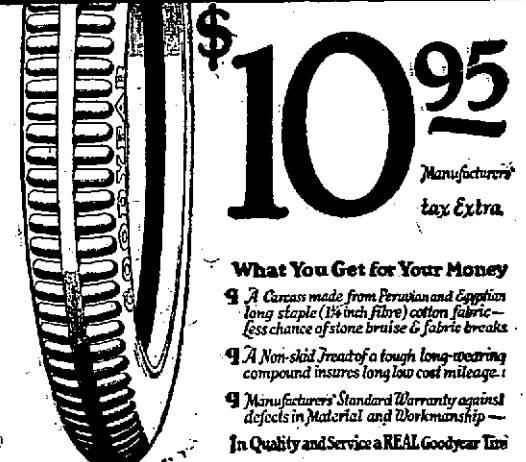

We know of no reason why the long custom of the party should at this time be abandoned, and we respectfully ask the voters at the primary on next Tuesday, May 2nd, to give our candidacy for renomination favorable consideration.

GRANTED A DIVORCE
FROM RUSHVILLE MAN

Mrs. Helen M. O'Reilly Given Custody of Child During School at Shelbyville, But Denied Alimony

$20 A MONTH SUPPORT ORDER

Shelbyville, Ind., April 27.—Mrs. Helen M. O'Reilly, of this city was granted a divorce Wednesday from John J. O'Reilly, a resident of Rushville, Ind., following the hearing of evidence on the complaint, which was filed in the Shelly circuit court last June. The plaintiff was refused judgment of alimony in the settlement of the case, her complaint having asked for payment of $1,000.

By the terms of an agreement between the couple, Mrs. O'Reilly was granted the custody of the daughter during the time that school is in session here. Mr. O'Reilly may have the custody of the child during the week-ends and was ordered to pay $20 a month for the support of the child.

Claude Henry, local attorney, served as special judge in the case. Cheney & Tolen were attorneys for Mrs. O'Reilly and Ed K. Adams of this city, represented the defendant.

AMUSEMENTS

"Headin' West," here Friday.

"Headin' West," the Universal Special Attraction at the Mystic Friday, is the story of a man who came home from the war and found that not all was glory in the returning. Hoot Gibson, champion rider and cowpuncher of the world as well as the star of many enjoyable pictures, has the stellar role.

He enters the tale via parachute, dropping off at a familiar spot on the scenery from an airplane in which he has bummed his way across the continent, going to the foreman of his own ranch, he asks for a job as cowpuncher. Getting the laugh when he fails to ride a broncho that someone had "fixed" with a thorn under the saddle, he is appointed first assistant to the cook. His chief occupation from then on is peeling potatoes.

The story has its measure of thrills as well as humorous situations. Harvey Gates wrote it and William Craft directed. Supporting the star are such popular players of the screen as Louise Lorraine, Charles LeMoyne, Gertrude Short, Jim Corey, Leo White, George A. Williams and Frank Whitson.

Famous Star at Princess.

Rudolph Valentino, the dark, stalwart hero of Rex Ingram's productions for Metro, "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse" and "The Conquering Power," at the Princess today, has had a wide and varied career in other fields than moving pictures. Mr. Valentino was born in Italy twenty-seven years ago. He received his early education in the public schools of Italy, later attending the Royal Military College of Agriculture at Genoa.

At the age of eighteen, he came to the United States, intending to put into practice some of the knowledge of farming acquired at the agricultural college in his native land. Instead, he turned his attention to dancing and soon gained an enviable reputation as a professional entertainer. He was the partner of Bonita Glass, famous dancer, with whom he appeared at Rector's. Later, they appeared at the Winter Garden, where their success was so marked that they were signed for a vaudeville tour on the Orpheum circuit.

Diamonds Split Asunder. That diamonds sometimes burst spontaneously is a belief dating back to the Middle ages, and still widely prevalent, though nobody seems to have actually witnessed this phenomenon. Numerous broken fragments of diamonds are found in the vicinity of the Kimberley diamond mines in South Africa.

RADIO TAKES LEADING PLACE IN HOUSEHOLD

New Invention Permits Radio Fans
To Attach Their Apparatus to
an Electric Light Socket

ELIMINATES A BATTERY

Washington, Apr. 27.—The radio-
phone today took its place in the list of household conveniences along with the electric iron and the va-uum cleaner.

A new invention of the bureau of standards at the department of commerce permits radio fans to attach their apparatus to an electric light socket and eliminate the en-cumbersome and not always convenient battery.

This, the experts say, will enable wireless phone fans to operate their machines with the ease and comfort of any other electrically attached
device.

Every cabinet member now has a radiophone at his desk or home, or
in both.

By special modes of connection it is possible to use the electric light
wires themselves as antennae, but
the signals are likely to come in
with less strength when this is done.

A paper describing the possibilities in the new appliance is being prepared by the standards bureau
for distribution.
